Chapter 15: धातुरूपाणि (Dhatu-Rupani: Verb Conjugations)

Subject	Sanskrit (NCERT Class 7, Deepakam)
Chapter	15 — धातुरूपाणि (Dhatu-Rupani: Verb Conjugations)
Total Questions	60 (Multiple Choice, single correct)
Maximum Marks	240
Suggested Time	90 minutes

Marking scheme: +4 for each correct answer · -1 for each wrong answer · 0 if unattempted.

Instructions: Each question has four options (A), (B), (C), (D); exactly one is correct. This appendix tables verb conjugations. Watch the classic traps: लट्-लकार is the PRESENT tense (not past); parasmaipada verbs take -ति (पठति) while atmanepada take -ते (भाषते); Sanskrit's persons are REVERSED - प्रथमपुरुष = English THIRD person, उत्तमपुरुष = English FIRST; verbs must AGREE with the subject (अहम् करोमि 'I do', not करोति 'he does'); and the अ- in अकरोत् is the PAST-tense augment, not the negative prefix. Sanskrit is quoted in Devanagari. Do not write on this paper — mark answers on your answer sheet.

Worked Solutions

- (D) A धातु is a verb root. It is not a noun ending, a vowel quantity, or a case.
- (A) पठति, पठसि, पठामि are built from पठ् ('to read'). अस्, कृ and भाष् are different roots.
- (B) The appendix tables eight roots. Not three, ten, or one.
- (C) Knowing the root lets you build its many tense and person forms. Verbs are conjugated, not declined like nouns, and they have no case.
- (A) The लकार system has ten tense-moods. Seven is the number of noun cases; not three or one.
- (A) लकाराः are Sanskrit's ten tenses and moods. The seven cases, three genders and declensions are noun features.
- (D) लट् marks the present tense. लङ् is the imperfect past, लृट् the future, and लोट् the imperative.
- (D) लट्-लकार shows the present tense. Not the past, the future, or no time.

- 9. (A) The appendix conjugates the roots in लट् (the present). Not only the future, imperative, or optative.
- 10. (B) लङ्-लकार marks the imperfect past. The present is लट्, future लृट्, and optative विधिलिङ्.
- 11. (C) लृट्-लकार marks the future. The present is लट्, the past लङ्, and the imperative लोट्.
- 12. (B) लोट् is the imperative and विधिलिङ् the optative. The other pairings are wrong.
- 13. (C) Sanskrit verbs fall into ten गण (classes). Not three, seven, or one.
- 14. (A) पठ् belongs to the first class (भ्वादि), the most common. It is not the tenth, none, or the eighth (which is कृ's class).
- 15. (B) Multiple examples show that different गण classes conjugate differently. Verbs do not all conjugate identically, do change, and पठ् is not the only root.
- 16. (D) अस्, कृ and श्रु belong to other classes with different, often irregular forms. They are verbs (not nouns), do conjugate, and are not class 1.
- 17. (B) The two pada-classes are परस्मैपदम् and आत्मनेपदम्. The others are numbers, tenses, or genders.
- 18. (B) Parasmaipada 3rd-singular present ends in -ति (पठति). -ते is atmanepada, -स्य a future marker, and -आय a dative ending.
- 19. (D) Atmanepada 3rd-singular present ends in -ते (भाषते). -ति is parasmaipada, -तुम् an infinitive, and -स्य a future marker.
- 20. (A) पठति and भाषते differ by pada-class (parasmaipada vs atmanepada). They are the same tense, number and (verbs have no) gender.
- 21. (C) A root taking both classes is उभयपद. परस्मैपद and आत्मनेपद name a single class each, and अव्यय is an indeclinable.
- 22. (D) The lexicon tells you a root's pada-class. It is not decided by the noun, the time of day, or vowel length.
- 23. (A) Sanskrit's persons are numbered in reverse: प्रथम = English 'third person'. Not the same, random, or absent.
- 24. (B) प्रथमपुरुष corresponds to English third person (he/she/it). Not first or second person.
- 25. (A) उत्तमपुरुष corresponds to English first person (I/we). Not third or second person.

- 26. (C) मध्यमपुरुष corresponds to English second person (you). Not first or third person.
- 27. (B) Sanskrit's प्रथमपुरुष ('first person') is what Western books call the third person. Not the English first or second person.
- 28. (D) पठति is प्रथमपुरुष (Sanskrit 'first', English third person). Not उत्तमपुरुष or मध्यमपुरुष.
- 29. (D) Do not translate प्रथमपुरुष as English 'first person' (I); it actually means the English third person (he/she).
- 30. (C) The 3rd-singular present of पठ् is पठति. पठतः is dual, पठन्ति plural, and पठामि first-person singular.
- 31. (C) The 3rd-dual present is पठतः. पठति is singular, पठन्ति plural, and पठसि second-person singular.
- 32. (D) The 3rd-plural present is पठन्ति. पठति is singular, पठतः dual, and पठामि first-person singular.
- 33. (B) पठति, पठतः, पठन्ति are all 3rd-person present parasmaipada, differing only in number. Not in tense, person, or pada-class.
- 34. (B) अस् means 'to be'. 'To read' is पठ्, 'to do' कृ, and 'to speak' भाष्.
- 35. (B) The 3rd-singular present of अस् is अस्ति. अस्मि is first-singular, असि second-singular, and सन्ति third-plural.
- 36. (C) अहम् अस्मि means 'I am'. 'He is' is सः अस्ति, 'you are' त्वम् असि, and 'they are' ते सन्ति.
- 37. (A) अस्मि is the उत्तमपुरुष (first-person) singular, 'I am'. प्रथमपुरुष is अस्ति, मध्यमपुरुष असि; it is singular, not plural.
- 38. (C) The 3rd-plural present of अस् is सन्ति. अस्ति is singular, अस्मि first-singular, and स्तः dual.
- 39. (D) कृ means 'to do / make'. 'To be' is अस्, 'to read' पठ्, and 'to speak' भाष्.
- 40. (A) The 3rd-singular present of कृ is करोति. कुरुतः is dual, कुर्वन्ति plural, and करोमि first-person singular.
- 41. (C) The 3rd-plural present of कृ is कुर्वन्ति. करोति is singular, कुरुतः dual, and करोमि first-person singular.
- 42. (B) कृ alternates: strong करो- in करोति, weak कुर्व- in कुर्वन्ति. करो- is the strong stem, and पठ-/भाष्- are other roots.

43. (B) 'I do' is करोमि (first-person singular). करोति is 'he does', कुर्वन्ति 'they do', and कुरुतः 'the two do'.

44. (B) करोति, कुरुतः, कुर्वन्ति are the 3rd-person singular, dual and plural of कृ. They are one tense, one person, and one verb.

45. (C) भाष् means 'to speak'. 'To be' is अस्, 'to do' कृ, and 'to read' पठ्.

46. (D) भाष् is atmanepada, so its 3rd-singular present is भाषते (-ते). भाषति (-ति) would be parasmaipada; भाषामि is first-singular and भाषन्ति a wrong-pada plural.

47. (D) The 3rd-plural present of भाष् is भाषन्ते. भाषन्ति is a parasmaipada-style ending, भाषते is singular, and भाषेते dual.

48. (C) भाषते (-ते) shows भाष् is atmanepada. Parasmaipada takes -ति; it is not a past tense or a first-person marker.

49. (B) अहम् ('I') requires करोमि ('I do'). करोति is 'he does', कुर्वन्ति 'they do', and कुरुतः 'the two do'.

50. (A) अहम् करोति is wrong because करोति is third person ('he does'), while अहम् is first person (needing करोमि). करोति is not correct here, a past tense, or a noun.

51. (C) Sanskrit verbs agree with their subject in person and number. Not colour, case/gender, or vowel length.

52. (A) वयम् ('we') takes कुर्मः ('we do'). करोति is 'he does', कुरुतः 'the two do', and करोमि 'I do'.

53. (D) अकरोत् means 'he did' (past). 'He does' is करोति, 'he will do' करिष्यति, and 'let him do' करोतु.

54. (D) The अ- in अकरोत् is the past-tense augment (लङ्-लकार). It is not the negative prefix, a case ending, or a length mark.

55. (C) The अ- in अधर्मः is the negative prefix ('non-'). It is not the past-tense augment, a present marker, or a dative ending.

56. (D) The two अ- (augment vs negative prefix) are distinguished by context. Not by colour, time, or vowel quantity alone.

57. (A) कृ = to do and भाष् = to speak. अस् is 'to be', पठ् 'to read'; the other pairings are wrong.

58. (A) Parasmaipada uses -ति (पठति) and atmanepada -ते (भाषते). The reversal and 'both same' options are wrong.

59. (C) प्रथमपुरुष = English third person and उत्तमपुरुष = English first person. The reversal and the other options are wrong.

60. (A) लट् is the present tense, and करोति means 'he/she does' (अहम् करोमि is 'I do'). The other options keep one or both errors.
