Chapter 4: न लभ्यते चेत् आम्लं द्राक्षाफलम् (The Fox and the Grapes)

Subject	Sanskrit (NCERT Class 7, Deepakam)
Chapter	4 — न लभ्यते चेत् आम्लं द्राक्षाफलम् (The Fox and the Grapes)
Total Questions	60 (Multiple Choice, single correct)
Maximum Marks	240
Suggested Time	90 minutes

Marking scheme: +4 for each correct answer · -1 for each wrong answer · 0 if unattempted.

Instructions: Each question has four options (A), (B), (C), (D); exactly one is correct. Questions test the fable's meaning, moral and grammar. Watch the classic traps: the moral is NOT to belittle ('call sour') what you fail to get - the fox's mistake is the dishonest EXCUSE, not the failed jump; द्राक्षालता is the whole grape-VINE (द्राक्षा 'grape' + लता 'creeper'), not just a grape; उत्पतति is PRESENT tense (उत् is a prefix 'up', not the past augment); direction words use the तसिल् suffix -तः (वामतः 'on the left'); and पिपासा (from पा, drink) is thirst while बुभुक्षा (from भुज्, eat) is hunger. Sanskrit is quoted in Devanagari. Do not write on this paper — mark answers on your answer sheet.

1. This chapter is the Sanskrit retelling of which fable?

- (A) The Lion and the Mouse (B) The Fox and the Grapes
(C) The Tortoise and the Hare (D) The Crow and the Pitcher

2. शृगालः means:

- (A) fox / jackal (B) lion
(C) grape (D) vine

3. The central character (protagonist) of the story is:

- (A) the grape-vine (B) a teacher
(C) the fox (शृगालः) (D) the Sun

4. Where does the fox wander in the story?

- (A) in the ocean (B) on a mountain peak
(C) in a city market (D) in the forest (वने)

5. शृगालः is glossed as लोमशा, referring to the animal's:

- (A) thirst (B) furry / hairy nature
(C) wisdom (D) wealth

6. At the start, the fox is described as श्रान्तः, meaning:

(A) tired / weary

(B) happy

(C) wealthy

(D) wise

7. श्रान्तः is glossed as क्लान्तः, meaning:

(A) joyful

(B) angry

(C) sour

(D) weary / fatigued

8. खिन्नः, used for the fox, means:

(A) sad / dejected

(B) tired

(C) thirsty

(D) brave

9. The fox is also full of पिपासा / तृषा, meaning:

(A) thirst

(B) hunger

(C) anger

(D) sleep

10. पिपासा is glossed as पातुम् इच्छा, meaning the:

(A) wish to eat

(B) wish to drink

(C) wish to sleep

(D) wish to run

11. Putting it together, the opening shows a fox that is:

(A) rested, happy and full

(B) wealthy and proud

(C) angry and strong

(D) tired, sad and thirsty

12. द्राक्षालता means:

(A) the grape-vine (the whole climbing plant)

(B) a single grape

(C) a fox

(D) the forest

13. द्राक्षालता breaks into द्राक्षा + लता, meaning:

(A) 'fox' + 'forest'

(B) 'sour' + 'fruit'

(C) 'left' + 'right'

(D) 'grape' + 'creeper' = grape-vine

14. द्राक्षा by itself means:

(A) grape (the fruit)

(B) the whole vine

(C) a fox

(D) sourness

15. द्राक्षाफलम् means:

(A) the creeper plant

(B) the forest

(C) the grape-fruit (the grapes)

(D) the fox

16. Sanskrit using द्राक्षालता where English says 'grapevine' shows that Sanskrit often:

(A) uses fewer words than English always

(B) has no word for grape

(C) cannot form compounds

(D) compounds two words where one English word suffices

17. उत्पत्ति means:

- (A) he jumps / leaps up
(C) he slept

- (B) he sat down
(D) he ate

18. In उत्पतति, उत् is a:

- (A) past-tense augment
(C) case ending

- (B) prefix (उपसर्ग) meaning 'up'
(D) suffix meaning 'down'

19. उत्पतति is in which tense?

- (A) past
(C) present ('he leaps up')

- (B) future
(D) imperative

20. The PAST-tense form of this verb is:

- (A) उत्पतति
(C) पततु

- (B) उत्पतिष्यति
(D) उदपतत् (with the augment अ-)

21. The difference between उत् in उत्पतति and the अ- in उदपतत् is that उत् is a _____ while अ- is the _____.

- (A) augment ... prefix
(C) case ending ... suffix

- (B) prefix (उपसर्ग) ... past-tense augment
(D) verb ... noun

22. A prefix (उपसर्ग) like उत्-:

- (A) marks past tense
(B) attaches to the root and can change its meaning ('up')
(C) is a case ending
(D) is always silent

23. How many times does the fox jump for the grapes?

- (A) exactly once
(C) only in his sleep

- (B) never
(D) again and again (पुनः पुनः)

24. The sequence एकवारम्, द्विवारम्, पुनः पुनः means:

- (A) left, right, behind
(C) once, twice, again and again

- (B) tired, sad, thirsty
(D) grape, vine, fruit

25. The fox keeps jumping पुनः पुनः but:

- (A) easily reaches them at once
(C) decides not to try

- (B) still cannot reach the grapes
(D) falls asleep instead

26. Unable to reach the grapes, the fox declares them:

- (A) sweet
(C) sour (आम्लम्)

- (B) ripe
(D) poisonous

27. आम्लम् means:

- (A) sweet
(C) sour

- (B) tired
(D) left

28. The chapter's title/punchline न लभ्यते चेत् आम्लं द्राक्षाफलम् means:

- (A) the grapes are always sweet
(B) if it is not obtained, the grape-fruit is (called) sour
(C) the fox eats the grapes (D) the vine is on the left

29. न लभ्यते चेत् means:

- (A) the grapes are sweet (B) if (it) is not obtained
(C) the fox is tired (D) on the left side

30. The fox's verdict 'आम्लम्' is his reaction to:

- (A) failing to reach the grapes (B) eating too many grapes
(C) finding sweet grapes (D) reaching the grapes easily

31. The moral of the fable is:

- (A) always give up quickly (B) grapes are bad for you
(C) do not belittle ('call sour') what you fail to get
(D) never enter a forest

32. The fox's real mistake, according to the chapter, is:

- (A) the dishonest excuse, not the failure to jump
(B) jumping too high (C) being thirsty
(D) wandering in the forest

33. Calling something 'sour' just because you couldn't get it is an example of:

- (A) honest effort
(B) dishonest rationalisation (making an excuse)
(C) noble sacrifice (D) careful planning

34. The chapter notes that working hard at something unreachable is:

- (A) exactly the fox's mistake (B) always foolish
(C) a different, even noble, story - the fable targets the excuse, not the effort
(D) the same as calling it sour

35. If a student fails a test and says 'that subject is useless anyway', this is most like:

- (A) honest study (B) the Sun Salutation
(C) good company (सङ्गतिः) (D) the fox calling the grapes sour

36. The lesson 'do not belittle what you fail to get' warns against:

- (A) trying hard (B) helping others
(C) drinking water when thirsty (D) making excuses to hide our own failure

37. The direction words वामतः, दक्षिणतः, अग्रतः, पृष्ठतः are formed with the suffix:

- (A) -आय (dative) (B) तसिल् (-तः)
(C) -एन (instrumental) (D) -स्य (genitive)

38. Words made with the तसिल् (-तः) suffix are:

- (A) direction adverbs ('in/at/towards that direction')
(B) verbs (C) past-tense forms
(D) plural nouns

39. वामतः differs from the case forms of वाम because वामतः is:

- (A) the accusative of वाम
(B) an adverb 'on the left side', not a noun case form
(C) a verb (D) a past tense

40. Using the accusative of वाम instead of वामतः for 'on the left' is wrong because direction is shown by:

- (A) the तसिल् suffix -तः (वामतः) (B) the dative ending
(C) the past-tense augment (D) a compound

41. वामतः means:

- (A) on the left (B) on the right
(C) in front (D) behind

42. दक्षिणतः means:

- (A) on the left (B) in front
(C) on the right (D) behind

43. अग्रतः means:

- (A) behind (B) on the left
(C) in front (D) on the right

44. पृष्ठतः means:

- (A) in front (B) on the left
(C) behind (D) on the right

45. पिपासा means 'thirst' and comes from the root:

- (A) भुज् ('to eat') (B) पा ('to drink')
(C) गम् ('to go') (D) दृश् ('to see')

46. बुभुक्षा means 'hunger' and comes from the root:

- (A) पा ('to drink') (B) पठ् ('to read')
(C) वद् ('to speak') (D) भुज् ('to eat')

47. The difference between पिपासा and बुभुक्षा is that one is the wish to _____ and the other the wish to _____.

- (A) eat ... drink (B) sleep ... run
(C) read ... write (D) drink ... eat

48. Both पिपासा (thirst) and बुभुक्षा (hunger) are examples of Sanskrit's _____ pattern (X-want-to-do).

- (A) desiderative
(C) imperative

- (B) past-tense
(D) plural

49. If a word is built from पा ('drink') to mean 'wish to drink', that word is:

- (A) बुभुक्षा (hunger) (B) श्रान्तः (tired)
(C) पिपासा (thirst) (D) आम्लम् (sour)

50. Knowing the root lets you tell पिपासा from बुभुक्षा because the root names the _____ desired.

- (A) direction (B) action (drinking vs eating)
(C) colour (D) number

51. श्रान्तः means:

- (A) tired (B) thirsty
(C) sour (D) left

52. A traveller who has walked all day and is exhausted is best described as:

- (A) आम्लम् (sour) (B) वामतः (on the left)
(C) द्राक्षा (grape) (D) श्रान्तः (tired)

53. Which word-meaning pair is CORRECT?

- (A) द्राक्षा = fox (B) आम्लम् = sweet
(C) श्रान्तः = happy (D) शृगालः = fox

54. Which direction pair is CORRECT?

- (A) पृष्ठतः = behind (B) वामतः = on the right
(C) अग्रतः = behind (D) दक्षिणतः = in front

55. Which grammar pair is CORRECT?

- (A) उत्पतति = past tense (B) उत् = past-tense augment
(C) -तः = dative suffix (D) उत्पतति = present tense ('leaps up')

56. The overall theme of this fable is:

- (A) the value of saving money (B) the folly of belittling what we fail to achieve
(C) the rise of empires (D) the parts of a state

57. The chapter teaches both a moral and grammar; the grammar focus is on:

- (A) the dative case only (B) banking terms
(C) the -तः direction words and vocabulary of thirst/hunger/tiredness
(D) the names of the Sun

58. The fox would have been wiser to:

- (A) insist loudly that the grapes were sour (B) blame the forest
(C) accept honestly that he could not reach the grapes
(D) stop being thirsty

59. Putting it together, the punchline न लभ्यते चेत् आम्लं द्राक्षाफलम् captures:

- (A) the fox happily eating sweet grapes
- (B) a lesson about direction words
- (C) the fox declaring the unreachable grapes 'sour' to excuse his failure
- (D) the twelve names of the Sun

60. A student claims: 'The fable's lesson is to give up early, and उत्पतति is past tense.' The best correction is:

- (A) the student is fully correct
- (B) the lesson is to give up, but उत्पतति is present
- (C) the lesson is correct, and उत्पतति is past
- (D) the lesson is not to belittle what you fail to get, and उत्पतति is present tense

Worked Solutions

- (B) It is the Sanskrit retelling of 'The Fox and the Grapes'. The others are different fables.
- (A) शृगालः is the fox/jackal. A lion is सिंहः, a grape द्राक्षा, and a vine लता.
- (C) The protagonist is the fox (शृगालः). The grape-vine, a teacher and the Sun are not the central character.
- (D) The fox wanders in the forest (वने). Not the ocean, a peak, or a market.
- (B) लोमशा ('hairy') refers to the fox's furry nature. It is not thirst, wisdom, or wealth.
- (A) श्रान्तः means 'tired / weary'. It does not mean happy, wealthy, or wise.
- (D) श्रान्तः (glossed क्लान्तः) means weary/fatigued. Not joyful, angry, or sour.
- (A) खिन्नः means 'sad / dejected'. Tired is श्रान्तः, thirsty पिपासायुक्तः, and brave वीरः.
- (A) पिपासा / तृषा means 'thirst'. Hunger is बुभुक्षा, anger क्रोधः, and sleep निद्रा.

10. (B) पिपासा = पातुम् इच्छा = 'the wish to drink' (thirst). It is not the wish to eat, sleep, or run.

11. (D) The opening shows a fox that is tired (श्रान्तः), sad (खिन्नः) and thirsty (पिपासायुक्तः). Not rested, wealthy, or strong.

12. (A) द्राक्षालता is the grape-vine, the whole climbing plant. A single grape is द्राक्षा; a fox is शृगालः; a forest वनम्.

13. (D) द्राक्षा ('grape') + लता ('creeper') = grape-vine. The other splits are wrong.

14. (A) द्राक्षा by itself is the grape (fruit). The whole vine is द्राक्षालता, a fox शृगालः, and sourness आम्ल.

15. (C) द्राक्षाफलम् is the grape-fruit (the grapes). The plant is द्राक्षालता, the forest वनम्, and the fox शृगालः.

16. (D) Sanskrit often compounds two words (द्राक्षा + लता) where English uses one. It does not always use fewer words, lacks no word for grape, and certainly forms compounds.

17. (A) उत्पतति means 'he leaps up'. It does not mean sat down, slept, or ate.

18. (B) उत् is a prefix (उपसर्ग) meaning 'up'. It is not the past augment, a case ending, or a 'down' suffix.

19. (C) उत्पतति is present tense, 'he leaps up'. The past would be उदपतत्; it is not future or imperative.

20. (D) The past tense is उदपतत्, with the augment अ-. उत्पतति is present, उत्पतिष्यति future, and पततु imperative.

21. (B) उत् is a prefix (उपसर्ग, 'up'); अ- is the past-tense augment. The other pairings reverse or misname them.

22. (B) A prefix attaches to the root and can change its meaning (उत् = 'up'). It does not mark past tense, act as a case ending, or stay silent.

23. (D) The fox jumps again and again (पुनः पुनः). Not exactly once, never, or only in sleep.

24. (C) एकवारम्, द्विवारम्, पुनः पुनः = 'once, twice, again and again'. The other options are directions, states, or plant-words.

25. (B) Despite jumping again and again, the fox cannot reach the grapes. He does not reach them, refuse to try, or fall asleep.

26. (C) The fox declares the grapes sour (आम्लम्). Not sweet, ripe, or poisonous.

- 27. (C) आम्लम् means 'sour'. Sweet is मधुरम्, tired श्रान्तः, and left वामतः.
- 28. (B) It means 'if the grape-fruit is not obtained, it is (called) sour'. The other readings are wrong.
- 29. (B) न लभ्यते चेत् means 'if it is not obtained'. The other options are unrelated phrases.
- 30. (A) He calls the grapes sour because he fails to reach them. Not from eating, finding sweet ones, or reaching them easily.
- 31. (C) The moral is not to belittle what you fail to get. It is not about giving up, grapes being bad, or avoiding forests.
- 32. (A) The fox's real mistake is the dishonest excuse, not the failed jump. Being thirsty or wandering is not the mistake.
- 33. (B) It is dishonest rationalisation - an excuse. It is not honest effort, sacrifice, or planning.
- 34. (C) Hard work at the unreachable is a different, even noble, story; the fable targets the dishonest excuse, not the effort.
- 35. (D) Dismissing a subject after failing is just like the fox calling the grapes sour. It is not honest study, the Sun Salutation, or good company.
- 36. (D) The lesson warns against making excuses to hide failure. It does not warn against effort, helping others, or drinking water.
- 37. (B) They are formed with the तसिल् suffix (-तः). -आय is dative, -एन instrumental, and -स्य genitive.
- 38. (A) तसिल् (-तः) words are direction adverbs. They are not verbs, past-tense forms, or plural nouns.
- 39. (B) वामतः is an adverb 'on the left side', distinct from वाम's case forms. It is not an accusative, a verb, or a past tense.
- 40. (A) Direction is shown by the तसिल् suffix -तः (वामतः), not a case ending, augment, or compound.
- 41. (A) वामतः means 'on the left'. Right is दक्षिणतः, front अग्रतः, and behind पृष्ठतः.
- 42. (C) दक्षिणतः means 'on the right'. Left is वामतः, front अग्रतः, and behind पृष्ठतः.
- 43. (C) अग्रतः means 'in front'. Behind is पृष्ठतः, left वामतः, and right दक्षिणतः.
- 44. (C) पृष्ठतः means 'behind'. In front is अग्रतः, left वामतः, and right दक्षिणतः.

- 45. (B) पिपासा (thirst) comes from पा ('to drink'). भुज् gives बुभुक्षा (hunger); गम् and दृश् are unrelated.
- 46. (D) बुभुक्षा (hunger) comes from भुज् ('to eat'). पा gives पिपासा (thirst); पठ् and वद् are unrelated.
- 47. (D) पिपासा is the wish to drink (thirst); बुभुक्षा the wish to eat (hunger). The reversal and the others are wrong.
- 48. (A) Both are desideratives (wish-to-do forms). They are not past-tense, imperative, or plural patterns.
- 49. (C) The wish-to-drink word from पा is पिपासा (thirst). बुभुक्षा is hunger, श्रान्तः tired, and आम्लम् sour.
- 50. (B) The root names the action desired - drinking (पा) vs eating (भुज्). It is not direction, colour, or number.
- 51. (A) श्रान्तः means 'tired'. Thirsty is पिपासायुक्तः, sour आम्लम्, and left वामतः.
- 52. (D) An exhausted traveller is श्रान्तः (tired). The others mean sour, on-the-left, and grape.
- 53. (D) शृगालः = fox. द्राक्षा is a grape, आम्लम् is sour (not sweet), and श्रान्तः is tired (not happy).
- 54. (A) पृष्ठतः = behind. वामतः is left (not right), अग्रतः is in front (not behind), and दक्षिणतः is right (not front).
- 55. (D) उत्पतति is present tense. It is not past, उत् is a prefix (not the augment), and -तः is the direction suffix (not dative).
- 56. (B) The theme is the folly of belittling what we fail to achieve. It is not about saving money, empires, or the state.
- 57. (C) The grammar focus is the -तः direction words and the thirst/hunger/tiredness vocabulary. Not the dative, banking, or Sun-names.
- 58. (C) It would be wiser to accept honestly that he could not reach the grapes, rather than make excuses or blame others.
- 59. (C) The punchline captures the fox calling the unreachable grapes 'sour' to excuse his failure. Not eating them, a direction lesson, or Sun-names.

60. (D) The lesson is not to belittle what you fail to get, and उत्पत्ति is present tense. The other options keep one or both errors.
