Chapter 6: क्रीडाम वयं श्लोकान्त्याक्षरीम् (Let Us Play Shloka-Antyakshari)

Subject	Sanskrit (NCERT Class 7, Deepakam)
Chapter	6 — क्रीडाम वयं श्लोकान्त्याक्षरीम् (Let Us Play Shloka-Antyakshari)
Total Questions	60 (Multiple Choice, single correct)
Maximum Marks	240
Suggested Time	90 minutes

Marking scheme: +4 for each correct answer • -1 for each wrong answer • 0 if unattempted.

Instructions: Each question has four options (A), (B), (C), (D); exactly one is correct. Questions test the niti-shlokas' meaning and grammar. Watch the classic traps: श्लोकान्त्याक्षरी names the GAME (last-letter shloka game), not just a letter; किंशुक is the brilliantly-coloured but SCENT-LESS Flame of the Forest, key to the simile; the same विद्या/धन/शक्ति turn to quarrel/pride/oppression in the WICKED (खल) but sharing/giving/protection in the GOOD (साधु) - OPPOSITE uses; खल (wicked) differs from मूर्ख (foolish); and worth comes from शीलम् (character). Sanskrit is quoted in Devanagari. Do not write on this paper — mark answers on your answer sheet.

1. श्लोकान्त्याक्षरी is a game in which:

- (A) shlokas are sung backwards (B) the first letters are all removed
(C) each new shloka begins with the last letter of the previous one
(D) only one shloka is recited

2. श्लोकान्त्याक्षरी breaks into श्लोक + अन्त्य + अक्षर + ई, meaning:

- (A) 'first letter of a verse' (B) 'a verse without letters'
(C) 'a single letter'
(D) 'verse' + 'last' + 'letter' + (game-name) = the last-letter shloka game

3. The -ई suffix in श्लोकान्त्याक्षरी:

- (A) makes it past tense
(B) turns the phrase into a feminine action/game-name
(C) marks the dative (D) negates the word

4. अन्त्य means:

- (A) first (B) middle
(C) none (D) last / final

5. अक्षर means:

- (A) verse (B) game
(C) fragrance (D) letter / syllable

6. Reading श्लोकान्त्याक्षरी as merely 'last letter' misses that it names:

- (A) a single shloka (B) a fragrance
(C) the GAME (the last-letter game), not just the letter
(D) a wicked person

7. The verse विद्याहीना न शोभन्ते means:

(A) oppression (परिपीडन)

(B) protection (रक्षण)

(C) pride (मद)

(D) quarrel (विवाद)

27. The same विद्या, धन and शक्ति serve harm in the wicked but _____ in the good.

(A) quarrel, pride and oppression

(B) colour, scent and beauty

(C) sleep, fear and anger

(D) sharing, giving and protection

28. The verse's lesson is that the value of knowledge, wealth and power depends on:

(A) their quantity alone

(B) their colour

(C) the time of day

(D) the character of the person who holds them

29. A powerful person who protects the weak rather than oppressing them is acting like the _____ of the verse.

(A) खल (wicked person)

(B) किंशुक (flower)

(C) साधु (good person)

(D) मूर्ख (fool)

30. The verse's structure 'this for the wicked, the opposite for the good' is summed up as:

(A) both use them the same way

(B) खलस्य साधोः विपरीतम् ('for the wicked and the good, it is opposite')

(C) only the wicked have them

(D) only the good have them

31. Saying both the wicked and the good use knowledge for quarrel:

(A) is exactly what the verse says

(B) is true for wealth only

(C) is the verse's main point

(D) is wrong - they use it in OPPOSITE ways

32. The contrast विवाद vs sharing-of-learning shows that the SAME विद्या can be:

(A) used only for harm

(B) used only for good

(C) never used at all

(D) used for opposite ends by different people

33. विपरीतम् in खलस्य साधोः विपरीतम् means:

(A) the same

(B) both

(C) none

(D) opposite / reversed

34. खलः means:

(A) a wicked person (with malicious intent)

(B) a foolish person

(C) a learned person

(D) a fragrant flower

35. मूर्खः means:

(A) a foolish person (without intent, just unwise)

(B) a wicked person

(C) a wealthy person

(D) a famous person

36. The difference between खलः and मूर्खः is that खलः is a _____ failure and मूर्खः is an _____ failure.

- (A) intellectual ... moral (B) financial ... social
(C) moral ... intellectual (D) physical ... mental

37. The wicked verse of the chapter targets specifically the:

- (A) मूर्ख (the merely foolish) (B) साधु (the good)
(C) खल (those who turn gifts to harm by choice)
(D) किंशुक (the flower)

38. Someone who deliberately uses learning to start quarrels is best called a:

- (A) खलः (wicked person) (B) मूर्खः (fool)
(C) साधुः (good person) (D) यशस्विनी (famous one)

39. भारभूताः means:

- (A) treasures of the earth (B) flowers of the forest
(C) rulers of the land (D) burdens (on the earth)

40. भारभूताः breaks into भार + भूत, meaning:

- (A) 'flower' + 'forest'
(B) 'burden' + 'become' = having become a burden
(C) 'last' + 'letter' (D) 'wealth' + 'fame'

41. According to the chapter, who is a भारभूतः (burden on the earth)?

- (A) a person without शीलम् (good character) (B) a person without wealth
(C) a person without fame (D) a person without beauty

42. भारभूताः is glossed as भारकराः, meaning:

- (A) those who are treasures (B) those who are burdens
(C) those who are wise (D) those who are wealthy

43. Calling the character-less person a 'burden on the earth' stresses that worth comes from:

- (A) wealth alone (B) beauty alone
(C) good character, not mere existence, looks or wealth
(D) birth alone

44. शीलम् means:

- (A) wealth (B) beauty
(C) a flower (D) character / moral conduct

45. शीलम् is glossed as वृत्तम् / आचरणम्, meaning:

- (A) wealth (B) conduct / behaviour
(C) fragrance (D) a game

46. The chapter's anchor virtue, beyond looks, birth or fortune, is:

(A) लक्ष्मी: (wealth)

(B) शीलम् (good character)

(C) रूपम् (beauty)

(D) कुलम् (birth)

47. A person who is rich and handsome but cruel and dishonest lacks the chapter's key virtue of:

(A) धनम् (wealth)

(B) शीलम् (good character)

(C) रूपम् (beauty)

(D) यशः (fame)

48. विद्या means:

(A) deep mystical insight only

(B) wealth

(C) learning / study / formal knowledge

(D) character

49. ज्ञान differs from विद्या in that ज्ञान is more like:

(A) direct knowing / deep insight (what a sage realises)

(B) formal schooling

(C) wealth

(D) fragrance

50. विद्यालय ('place of विद्या') means a _____, while a ज्ञानी is a _____.

(A) wise person ... school

(B) school ... wise person

(C) temple ... fool

(D) market ... king

51. The chapter uses विद्या for what gives a person:

(A) fragrance

(B) wealth alone

(C) a long life

(D) social value through formal learning

52. लक्ष्मी: in the chapter refers to:

(A) knowledge

(B) character

(C) a flower

(D) wealth / fortune (personified)

53. यशस्विनी means:

(A) without fame

(B) wealthy

(C) foolish

(D) (a woman) endowed with fame

54. यशस्विनी and यशस्वी relate to:

(A) धनम् (wealth)

(B) यशः (fame / glory)

(D) विद्या (learning)

55. Which word-meaning pair is CORRECT?

(A) शीलम् = character

(B) खलः = a wise person

(C) किंशुक = a fragrant rose

(D) विद्या = wealth

56. Which contrast pair is CORRECT?

(A) खलः = foolish; मूर्खः = wicked

(B) both खलः and मूर्खः = wise

(C) खलः = wicked; मूर्खः = foolish

(D) both खलः and मूर्खः = wealthy

57. Which 'wicked vs good' use of knowledge is CORRECT?

- (A) wicked use knowledge for विवाद (quarrel); good use it to share learning
(B) wicked use it for giving; good for quarrel (C) both use it for protection
(D) both use it for oppression

58. The overall theme of these shlokas is:

- (A) that character and knowledge give true worth, while gifts turn harmful in the wicked
(B) that wealth is the only goal (C) a fable about a fox
(D) banking and finance

59. Putting it together, the chapter teaches that a person is truly worthy through:

Worked Solutions

- (C) In श्लोकान्त्याक्षरी each new verse begins with the last letter of the previous one. It is not singing backwards, removing first letters, or reciting one verse.
- (D) श्लोक ('verse') + अन्त्य ('last') + अक्षर ('letter') + ई names the last-letter shloka game. The other readings are wrong.
- (B) The -ई suffix forms a feminine action/game-name. It does not mark past tense, the dative, or a negation.
- (D) अन्त्य means 'last / final'. It does not mean first, middle, or none.
- (D) अक्षर means 'letter / syllable'. A verse is श्लोक, a game क्रीडा, and fragrance गन्ध.
- (C) श्लोकान्त्याक्षरी names the GAME, not just a letter. It is not a single shloka, a fragrance, or a wicked person.
- (C) It means those without knowledge do not truly shine. It does not say the knowledgeable never shine, that flowers always shine, or that only the wealthy shine.

- 8. (C) विद्याहीना: are those without knowledge (विद्या + हीन). Not without wealth, fragrance, or fame.
- 9. (B) Even the handsome, without knowledge, do not truly shine. They do not shine most, gain wealth, or gain automatic fame.
- 10. (C) They are likened to fragrance-less किंशुक flowers. Not fragrant roses, coins, or mountains.
- 11. (A) The simile shows outward beauty without knowledge lacks real worth, like bright colour with no scent. It does not say flowers are useless, knowledge unimportant, or beauty enough.
- 12. (D) किंशुक is the Flame of the Forest (Butea monosperma). It is not a rose, a fruit, or a bird.
- 13. (A) The किंशुक is brilliantly coloured but scent-less. It is not fragrant-but-colourless, tiny and white, or aquatic.
- 14. (A) निर्गन्धा: means 'scent-less'. It does not mean colourful, fragrant, or poisonous.
- 15. (C) The simile depends on the किंशुक's bright colour yet no fragrance; 'flower' loses that. It is not about size, price, or an English name.
- 16. (A) It teaches that one may be outwardly attractive yet lack worth without knowledge. The point is not fragrance, wealth, or wisdom (which is the missing thing).
- 17. (C) Like colour without scent, the unlearned has good looks but no real worth from knowledge. The other pairings reverse or distort the simile.
- 18. (C) In the wicked, knowledge becomes विवाद (quarrel). Giving, protection and sharing are its good uses.
- 19. (B) In the wicked, wealth becomes मद (pride). Giving (दान) is its good use; quarrel and protection belong to knowledge and power.
- 20. (A) In the wicked, power becomes परिपीडन (oppression). Protection (रक्षण) is its good use; giving and sharing belong to wealth and knowledge.
- 21. (D) The wicked use knowledge विवादाय (for quarrel). Giving, protection and service are not its wicked use.
- 22. (A) In wicked hands the gifts turn to harm - quarrel, pride, oppression. In good hands they serve sharing, giving and protection.
- 23. (B) विवाद (quarrel) from knowledge, मद (pride) from wealth, परिपीडन (oppression) from power. The other orders are wrong.

- 24. (A) In the good, knowledge is used for sharing learning. Quarrel, pride and oppression are its wicked uses.
- 25. (C) In the good, wealth is used for giving (दान). Pride is its wicked use; quarrel and oppression belong to knowledge and power.
- 26. (B) In the good, power is used for protection (रक्षण). Oppression is its wicked use; pride and quarrel belong to wealth and knowledge.
- 27. (D) In the good they serve sharing, giving and protection. The second set is the wicked use; the others are unrelated.
- 28. (D) Their value depends on the holder's character. Not on quantity alone, colour, or time of day.
- 29. (C) Using power to protect is the way of the साधु (good person). Not the खल, the किंशुक flower, or the मूर्ख.
- 30. (B) The structure is खलस्य साधोः विपरीतम् - opposite uses. Both do not use them the same way, and both wicked and good can hold them.
- 31. (D) It is wrong; the wicked quarrel, the good share - opposite ways. The verse's point is precisely this contrast.
- 32. (D) The same knowledge can be used for opposite ends depending on the person. It is not only harmful, only good, or unused.
- 33. (D) विपरीतम् means 'opposite / reversed'. It does not mean the same, both, or none.
- 34. (A) खलः is a wicked person, acting with malicious intent. A fool is मूर्खः, a learned person विद्वान्, and a flower पुष्पम्.
- 35. (A) मूर्खः is a foolish (unwise) person, without malicious intent. A wicked person is खलः, a wealthy one धनिकः, and a famous one यशस्वी.
- 36. (C) खलः is a moral failure (wicked); मूर्खः an intellectual failure (foolish). The reversal and the other pairs are wrong.
- 37. (C) It targets the खल, who turn gifts to harm by choice - not the merely foolish, the good, or the flower.
- 38. (A) Deliberately misusing learning makes one a खलः (wicked person). Not a mere fool, a good person, or a famous one.
- 39. (D) भारभूताः means 'burdens (on the earth)'. Not treasures, flowers, or rulers.

40. (B) भार ('burden') + भूत ('become') = 'having become a burden'. The other splits are wrong.

41. (A) One without शीलम् (good character) is a burden on the earth. Lacking wealth, fame or beauty is not the criterion.

42. (B) भारभूताः = भारकराः = 'those who are burdens'. Not treasures, the wise, or the wealthy.

43. (C) It stresses that worth comes from good character, not from mere existence, looks, wealth, or birth.

44. (D) शीलम् means 'character / moral conduct'. Wealth is धनम्, beauty रूपम्, and a flower पुष्पम्.

45. (B) शीलम् = वृत्तम् / आचरणम् = 'conduct / behaviour'. It is not wealth, fragrance, or a game.

46. (B) The anchor virtue is शीलम् (good character), valued above wealth, beauty and birth.

47. (B) Such a person lacks शीलम् (good character), even while having wealth and beauty.

48. (C) विद्या is learning / formal knowledge (what schools teach). Deep insight is ज्ञान; wealth is धनम् and character शीलम्.

49. (A) ज्ञान is direct knowing / deep insight, while विद्या is formal learning. It is not schooling, wealth, or fragrance.

50. (B) विद्यालय is a school; a ज्ञानी is a wise person. The reversal and the other pairs are wrong.

51. (D) The chapter uses विद्या for the social value gained through formal learning. Not fragrance, wealth, or longevity.

52. (D) लक्ष्मीः refers to wealth / fortune (personified). It is not knowledge, character, or a flower.

53. (D) यशस्विनी means '(a woman) endowed with fame'. It does not mean without fame, wealthy, or foolish.

54. (B) Both relate to यशः (fame / glory). Not to wealth, character, or learning.

55. (A) शीलम् = character. खलः is wicked (not wise), किंशुक is a scent-less Flame of the Forest (not a fragrant rose), and विद्या is learning (not wealth).

56. (C) खलः is wicked and मूर्खः foolish. The reversal and 'both same' options are wrong.

57. (A) The wicked use knowledge for विवाद (quarrel); the good share learning. The other options reverse or collapse the contrast.

58. (A) The theme is that character and knowledge give true worth, while gifts turn harmful in the wicked. It is not about wealth-only, a fox, or banking.

59. (B) True worth comes from विद्या (knowledge) and शीलम् (character), not looks, wealth, fame, or birth alone.

60. (B) किंशुक is the colourful but scent-less Flame of the Forest, and खल (wicked) differs from मूर्ख (foolish). The other options keep one or both errors.
