Chapter 14: शब्दरूपाणि (Shabda-Rupani: Noun Declensions)

Paper 4 — (progressively harder)

Subject	Sanskrit (NCERT Class 7, Deepakam)
Chapter	14 — शब्दरूपाणि (Shabda-Rupani: Noun Declensions)
Total Questions	60 (Multiple Choice, single correct)
Maximum Marks	240
Suggested Time	90 minutes

Marking scheme: +4 for each correct answer · -1 for each wrong answer · 0 if unattempted.

Instructions: Each question has four options (A), (B), (C), (D); exactly one is correct. National-olympiad level: cross-paradigm contrasts (अ vs आ vs इ vs उ vs नपुंसक), neuter प्रथमा=द्वितीया syncretism (फलम्/फलानि), feminine आकारान्त with -आयै/-आयाः/-आयाम् triple syncretism, the dual -आभ्याम्/-योः and plural -भ्यः/-नाम्/-सु syncretisms shared across stems, pronoun तत्/किम् with -स्मै/-स्मात्/-स्मिन्, and multi-step 'which form fits this sentence' reasoning. Every distractor is a real misconception: wrong case, wrong number, or a form borrowed from the wrong stem-class. Strictly within Class-7 NCERT scope. Do not write on this paper — mark answers on your answer sheet.

- रमा declines as an आकारान्त feminine noun. Its instrumental singular ('by Rama') is —
(A) रमेन (B) रमया
(C) रमाय (D) रमायाः
- For रमा (आकारान्त feminine), the dative singular, ablative singular and genitive singular are NOT all alike: which one stands apart with the ending -आयै?
(A) the ablative (पञ्चमी): रमायै (B) the genitive (षष्ठी): रमायै
(C) the locative (सप्तमी): रमायै (D) the dative (चतुर्थी): रमायै
- A learner says 'in the आकारान्त feminine, the ablative, genitive and locative singular all look alike.' Testing on रमा, the truth is —
(A) all three are रमायाः (B) all three are रमायाम्
(C) ablative and genitive share रमायाः, but the locative is the distinct रमायाम्
(D) all three are रमायै
- The vocative singular of रमा ('O Rama!') is —

- (A) हे रमा!
(C) हे रमायै!

- (B) हे रमे!
(D) हे रमाः!

5. लता ('creeper') declines like रमा. Its nominative plural is —

- (A) लते
(C) लतयः
(B) लतानि
(D) लताः

6. Identify the case and number of रमायाम्.

- (A) genitive (षष्ठी) singular — 'of Rama' (B) dative (चतुर्थी) singular — 'to Rama'
(C) locative (सप्तमी) singular — 'in/on Rama'
(D) locative (सप्तमी) plural — 'among the Ramas'

7. Across the three numbers of रमा, which one shows the dual form रमे that is identical for nominative, accusative AND vocative?

- (A) the dual: नोम/acc/voc all रमे (B) the singular: all रमा
(C) the plural: all रमाः (D) the dual: all रमयोः

8. फल ('fruit') is नपुंसकलिङ्ग (neuter). Its nominative singular is —

- (A) फलम् (B) फलः
(C) फले (D) फलानि

9. The hallmark of the नपुंसकलिङ्ग declension is that two cases always share one form in every number. They are —

- (A) genitive (षष्ठी) and locative (सप्तमी) (B) nominative (प्रथमा) and accusative (द्वितीया)
(C) dative (चतुर्थी) and ablative (पञ्चमी) (D) instrumental (तृतीया) and dative (चतुर्थी)

10. The nominative plural of the neuter फल is —

- (A) फलाः (B) फलान्
(C) फले (D) फलानि

11. In देवः फले फलानि पश्यति, the word फलानि could in principle be either nominative or accusative because फल is neuter. In this sentence it is the —

- (A) nominative (प्रथमा) plural — the fruits as subject
(B) accusative (द्वितीया) plural — 'the fruits' as the object seen
(C) locative (सप्तमी) plural — 'among the fruits'
(D) instrumental (तृतीया) plural — 'by the fruits'

12. The instrumental singular of the neuter फल ('by the fruit') is —

- (A) फलेन (B) फलया
(C) फलाय (D) फलानि

13. Which row of three forms — nominative singular, dual, plural of फल — is entirely correct for a neuter stem?

- (A) फलः, फलौ, फलाः (B) फलम्, फले, फलानि
(C) फलम्, फलौ, फलानि (D) फलम्, फले, फलाः

14. The pronoun तत् ('that/he') is declined in the chapter. Its nominative singular masculine is —

- (A) तत् (B) ते
(C) सः (D) तम्

15. The dative singular masculine of तत् ('to/for him') is —

- (A) तस्मै (B) तस्य
(C) तेन (D) तस्मात्

16. How does the pronoun तत् differ from the noun देव in the ablative and locative singular?

- (A) there is no difference; they share endings exactly
(B) the pronoun uses -आभ्याम् in the singular (C) the pronoun has no ablative or locative
(D) the pronoun inserts -स्म-: तस्मात् (abl.), तस्मिन् (loc.), unlike देवात्/देवे

17. The interrogative किम् ('what/who') in the masculine nominative singular is —

- (A) कः (B) किम्
(C) के (D) कम्

18. The genitive plural of the pronoun तत् ('of them', masculine) is —

- (A) तेषु (B) तैः
(C) तेभ्यः (D) तेषाम्

19. The feminine of तत् is सा. Its dative singular ('to/for her') is —

- (A) तस्याः (B) तस्याम्
(C) तया (D) तस्यै

20. Why is the instrumental singular of कवि कविना but of गुरु गुरुणा, with an ण rather than न?

- (A) गुरुणा is simply wrong; it should be गुरुना
(B) after the र-like environment of the उ-stem गुरु the न becomes ण (गुरुणा), while कवि keeps न (कविना)
(C) both should use ण; कविना is the error (D) the difference is one of number, not sound

21. A student lines up देवेन, रमया, कविना, गुरुणा and फलेन and asks what they have in common. The answer is —

- (A) all are dative singular (B) all are ablative singular
(C) all are instrumental (तृतीया) singular — 'by/with the ____' — across five stem-classes
(D) they belong to different cases and only look similar

22. Across देव, फल, कवि and गुरु, the dative and ablative PLURAL share one ending. Which group lists those forms correctly?

- (A) देवैः, फलैः, कविभिः, गुरुभिः (B) देवानाम्, फलानाम्, कवीनाम्, गुरुणाम्
(C) देवेषु, फलेषु, कविषु, गुरुषु (D) देवेभ्यः, फलेभ्यः, कविभ्यः, गुरुभ्यः

23. Identify the case and number of गुरुणाम्.

- (A) genitive (षष्ठी) plural — 'of the teachers' (B) dative (चतुर्थी) plural — 'to the teachers'
(C) genitive (षष्ठी) dual — 'of the two teachers'
(D) locative (सप्तमी) plural — 'among the teachers'

24. देवयोः, कव्योः and गुरोः are the same case-pair in the same number. Which?

- (A) genitive AND locative dual (षष्ठी/सप्तमी द्विवचन)
(B) instrumental and dative dual (C) nominative and accusative dual
(D) dative and ablative plural

25. देवाभ्याम्, कविभ्याम् and गुरुभ्याम् all cover which set of cases in the dual?

- (A) genitive and locative dual
(B) instrumental, dative AND ablative dual all share -भ्याम्
(C) nominative and accusative dual (D) only the instrumental dual

26. A student writes गुरवे and कवये side by side and calls them 'the same form'. The accurate comment is —

- (A) both are dative singular — 'to/for the ____' — गुरवे of गुरु, कवये of कवि; same case and number, different stems
(B) गुरवे is nominative plural, कवये is dative singular — different cases
(C) both are genitive singular (D) गुरवे is dual, कवये is plural

27. Tell apart गुरवः and गुरवे.

- (A) गुरवः = dative singular; गुरवे = nominative plural
(B) both are nominative plural
(C) गुरवः = nominative plural ('the teachers'); गुरवे = dative singular ('to/for the teacher')
(D) गुरवः = genitive singular; गुरवे = ablative singular

28. For कवि and गुरु the ablative singular and genitive singular coincide. Which pair shows BOTH correctly?

- (A) कवेः (कवि abl.=gen. sg.) and गुरोः (गुरु abl.=gen. sg.)
(B) कवये and गुरवे (C) कविना and गुरुणा
(D) कवौ and गुरौ

29. Supply the right form: 'अहं _____ कथां शृणोमि' = 'I hear a story FROM Rama' (रमा, आकारान्त feminine).

- (A) रमायाः (ablative — 'from Rama') (B) रमायै (dative — 'to Rama')
(C) रमया (instrumental — 'by Rama') (D) रमायाम् (locative — 'in Rama')

30. Supply the right form: 'फलम् _____ अस्ति' = 'the fruit is on the tree' (तरु, उकारान्त like गुरु, singular).

- (A) तरौ (locative singular — 'on the tree') (B) तरुणा (instrumental — 'by the tree')
(C) तरोः (ablative/genitive — 'from/of the tree') (D) तरवे (dative — 'to the tree')

31. Supply the right form: 'सा _____ नमति' = 'she bows to the goddess' (देवी-style not taught; use रमा as the addressee 'to Rama').

- (A) रमाया: (genitive/ablative) (B) रमाम् (accusative)
(C) रमायाम् (locative) (D) रमायै (dative — 'to/for Rama')

32. Supply the right form: 'अहं _____ पुस्तकं ददामि' = 'I give a book TO that boy' (तत् + masculine recipient).

- (A) तस्य (genitive — 'of him') (B) तेन (instrumental — 'by him')
(C) तस्मिन् (locative — 'in him') (D) तस्मै (dative singular — 'to him/that one')

33. Supply the right form: '_____ ग्रन्थः?' = 'WHOSE book is this?' (किम्, masculine genitive).

- (A) कः (nominative — 'who') (B) कस्मै (dative — 'to whom')
(C) केन (instrumental — 'by whom')
(D) कस्य (genitive singular — 'whose / of whom')

34. Supply the right form: 'बालकाः _____ पश्यन्ति' = 'the boys see the fruits' (फल, neuter, more than two).

- (A) फलैः (instrumental plural — 'by the fruits')
(B) फलेभ्यः (dative/ablative plural — 'to/from the fruits')
(C) फलानि (accusative plural — the fruits as object)
(D) फले (accusative dual — 'two fruits')

35. Supply the right form: 'अत्र _____ क्रीडतः' = 'here play TWO creepers...' — better: 'here stand TWO Ramas' (रमा, dual subject).

- (A) रमाः (nominative plural — many) (B) रमे (nominative dual — 'two Ramas')
(C) रमा (nominative singular — one) (D) रमया (instrumental singular)

36. A student declines 'two fruits' as the object and writes फलानि. The correction is —

- (A) फलानि is right; neuter has no dual (B) use फलौ for the dual
(C) for exactly two, use the neuter dual फले; फलानि is the plural (three or more)
(D) use फलाः for the dual

37. Across देव, फल and रमा, which statement about the INSTRUMENTAL plural is correct?

- (A) all three take -ऐः: देवैः, फलैः, रमैः (B) all three take -आभिः
(C) देवैः and फलैः share -ऐः, but रमा takes रमाभिः (-आभिः)
(D) all three take -भ्यः

38. Identify the case and number of तेषु.

- (A) genitive (षष्ठी) plural — 'of them'
(B) locative (सप्तमी) plural of तत् — 'in/among them'
(C) dative (चतुर्थी) plural — 'to them' (D) locative (सप्तमी) singular — 'in him'

39. Identify the case and number of रमाणाम्.

- (A) dative (चतुर्थी) plural — 'to them' (B) genitive (षष्ठी) singular — 'of Rama'
 (C) genitive (षष्ठी) plural — 'of the Ramas/women'
 (D) accusative (द्वितीया) plural — 'the Ramas'

40. Which single statement about the accusative SINGULAR across the four stems देव, रमा, कवि, फल is fully correct?

- (A) all four add -न् to make the accusative
 (B) देवम्, रमाम्, कविम् are all -म् accusatives; फलम् is the neuter, which equals its own nominative
 (C) रमा has no accusative singular (D) फल's accusative is फलः

41. देवस्य : 'of the god' :: तस्य : ?

- (A) 'to him' — तस्य is the dative (B) 'by him' — तस्य is the instrumental
 (C) 'of him / that one's' — तस्य is the genitive singular of the pronoun तत्
 (D) 'from him' — तस्य is the ablative

42. A learner claims 'फले is only the locative singular of फल.' The accurate correction is —

- (A) फले is ALSO the nominative=accusative dual of फल, besides being the locative singular
 (B) फले is only the dual, never the locative (C) फले is the plural, not the dual
 (D) फले is the genitive singular

43. Which row gives the GENITIVE plural correctly for देव, रमा, कवि, गुरु respectively?

- (A) देवेभ्यः, रमाभ्यः, कविभ्यः, गुरुभ्यः (B) देवैः, रमाभिः, कविभिः, गुरुभिः
 (C) देवेषु, रमासु, कविषु, गुरुषु (D) देवानाम्, रमाणाम्, कवीनाम्, गुरुणाम्

44. Which row gives the LOCATIVE plural correctly for देव, रमा, कवि, गुरु respectively?

- (A) देवानाम्, रमाणाम्, कवीनाम्, गुरुणाम् (B) देवेभ्यः, रमाभ्यः, कविभ्यः, गुरुभ्यः
 (C) देवैः, रमाभिः, कविभिः, गुरुभिः (D) देवेषु, रमासु, कविषु, गुरुषु

45. In 'सः रमायै पुष्पं ददाति', the three nouns/pronoun are correctly cased as —

- (A) सः = accusative; रमायै = genitive; पुष्पम् = nominative
 (B) सः = nominative; रमायै = ablative; पुष्पम् = dative
 (C) सः = nominative subject; रमायै = dative recipient ('to Rama'); पुष्पम् = accusative object
 (D) सः = vocative; रमायै = locative; पुष्पम् = instrumental

46. Why can knowing only the देव paradigm mislead you on फल, even though both are अकारान्त?

- (A) फल is feminine, taking -आ endings (B) फल is उकारान्त, taking -उ endings
 (C) फल is NEUTER: its nom/acc are -म्/-म्/-ए(du)/-आनि(pl) and coincide, unlike देव's देवः/देवम्/देवाः
 (D) there is no difference; फल declines exactly like देव

47. The neuter dative singular फलाय and the masculine dative singular देवाय are identical in ending. What does this show?

- (A) neuter and masculine are completely identical
- (B) neuter and masculine share nothing
- (C) फलाय is actually the genitive, not the dative
- (D) अ-stem neuter and masculine share most non-nom/acc endings; only the nom/acc (and their plurals/dual) differ

48. Identify the case and number of तस्याः (feminine pronoun).

- (A) dative singular — 'to her'
- (B) ablative OR genitive singular — 'from her / of her'
- (C) locative singular — 'in her'
- (D) instrumental singular — 'by her'

49. Supply the right form: 'काव्यं _____ रचितम्' = 'the poem was composed BY her' (feminine pronoun).

- (A) तस्याः (genitive/ablative — 'of/from her')
- (B) तया (instrumental — 'by her')
- (C) तस्यै (dative — 'to her')
- (D) तस्याम् (locative — 'in her')

50. A student writes 'हे रमा!' to call out to Rama. The correct vocative and rule is —

- (A) हे रमा! is correct — vocative equals nominative
- (B) हे रमायै! — vocative equals dative
- (C) हे रमाः! — vocative equals nominative plural
- (D) हे रमे! — the आकारान्त feminine shortens -आ to -ए in the vocative singular

51. Which set of FOUR labels is entirely correct? रमायाम् / फलानि / तस्मै / कवेः

- (A) रमायाम् = locative sg.; फलानि = nom/acc pl. (neuter); तस्मै = dative sg. (pronoun); कवेः = abl./gen. sg.
- (B) रमायाम् = dative sg.; फलानि = dual; तस्मै = genitive sg.; कवेः = dative sg.
- (C) रमायाम् = genitive sg.; फलानि = locative pl.; तस्मै = ablative sg.; कवेः = nominative pl.
- (D) रमायाम् = locative pl.; फलानि = instrumental pl.; तस्मै = locative sg.; कवेः = instrumental sg.

52. In 'तस्मिन् ग्रामे जनाः वसन्ति' = 'people live in that village', तस्मिन् is —

- (A) the dative singular — 'to that'
- (B) the locative singular of the pronoun तत् — 'in that'
- (C) the ablative singular — 'from that'
- (D) the genitive singular — 'of that'

53. Across the masculine pronoun तत् in the dual, which set of cases shares one -योः form (parallel to देवयोः)?

- (A) instrumental and dative dual — ताभ्याम्
- (B) genitive and locative dual — तयोः
- (C) nominative and accusative dual — तौ
- (D) dative and ablative plural — तेभ्यः

54. A learner says 'कवीन् and देवान् prove all इ-stems and अ-stems share the accusative plural ending.' The correction is —

- (A) both use -आन्; कवीन् is a typo for कवान्
- (B) both use -ईन्; देवान् is wrong
- (C) the accusative plural is the same as the nominative plural in both

(D) देवान् uses -आन् but कवीन् uses -ईन् (long ई + न्); the endings differ by stem-class

55. Supply the right form: 'सः _____ सह गच्छति' = 'he goes WITH the teachers' (गुरु, more than two; सह governs the instrumental).

- (A) गुरुभ्यः (dative/ablative plural — 'to/from the teachers')
- (B) गुरुणाम् (genitive plural — 'of the teachers')
- (C) गुरुभिः (instrumental plural — 'with the teachers')
- (D) गुरुषु (locative plural — 'among the teachers')

56. Final cross-paradigm synthesis: which row is ALL correctly labelled? देवानि / रमे / फलेन / तस्मात्

- (A) देवानि is INVALID for masculine देव, so the only fully valid+labelled triple is रमे = आकारान्त nom/acc/voc dual; फलेन = neuter instrumental sg.; तस्मात् = pronoun ablative sg.
- (B) all four are valid: देवानि = neuter plural of देव; रमे = dual; फलेन = instrumental; तस्मात् = ablative
- (C) रमे = singular; फलेन = dative; तस्मात् = genitive
- (D) रमे = plural; फलेन = nominative; तस्मात् = locative

57. Identify the case and number of रमाभ्याम्.

- (A) dative/ablative PLURAL — 'to/from the Ramas'
- (B) instrumental/dative/ablative DUAL — 'by/to/from the two Ramas'
- (C) genitive dual — 'of the two Ramas'
- (D) locative singular — 'in Rama'

58. Which contrast about the nominative plural across the three feminine/neuter/masculine अ-relatives देव, फल, रमा is correct?

- (A) all three end -आः: देवाः, फलाः, रमाः
- (B) all three end -आनि
- (C) देवाः (m -आः), फलानि (n -आनि), रमाः (f -आः) — neuter alone breaks the -आः pattern
- (D) all three end -अयः

59. A student claims 'कः, का, किम् are three different words.' The accurate statement is —

- (A) they are three unrelated pronouns
- (B) कः is singular, का dual, किम् plural
- (C) they are ONE interrogative किम् in three genders: कः (masc.), का (fem.), किम् (neut.) — nominative singular
- (D) they are the nominative, accusative and instrumental of one form

60. Grand synthesis — which four-form set is entirely correct? देवेभ्यः / रमायै / फलानि / गुर्वोः

- (A) देवेभ्यः = dat./abl. pl.; रमायै = dative sg. (fem.); फलानि = nom/acc pl. (neuter); गुर्वोः = gen./loc. dual
- (B) देवेभ्यः = genitive pl.; रमायै = ablative sg.; फलानि = dual; गुर्वोः = dative sg.
- (C) देवेभ्यः = instrumental pl.; रमायै = locative sg.; फलानि = singular; गुर्वोः = plural
- (D) देवेभ्यः = locative pl.; रमायै = genitive sg.; फलानि = accusative sg.; गुर्वोः = nominative pl.

Worked Solutions

1. (B) An आकारान्त feminine stem forms the instrumental singular by adding -या to the stem, giving रमया. The -एन ending belongs to the अकारान्त masculine paradigm, and -आय/-आयाः belong to other cases, so each of those is the wrong slot or wrong stem-class.

2. (D) In the आकारान्त feminine, the dative singular alone takes -आयै (रमायै), while the ablative and genitive share -आयाः and the locative takes -आयाम्. So the -आयै form is the dative, not any of the others.

3. (C) Only the ablative and genitive singular coincide as रमायाः; the locative singular is the separate form रमायाम्. So the three are not all identical — two coincide and the locative differs.

4. (B) An आकारान्त feminine shortens the final -आ to -ए in the vocative singular, giving हे रमे!. Keeping -आ copies the nominative wrongly, -आयै is the dative, and -आः is the nominative/accusative plural.

5. (D) The आकारान्त feminine nominative plural ends in -आः, giving लताः. लते is the dual, लतानि is a neuter plural ending, and लतयः wrongly imports the इकारान्त -अयः ending.

6. (C) रमायाम् is the आकारान्त feminine locative singular (-आयाम्). The genitive singular is रमायाः and the dative is रमायै, so those labels are wrong, and the locative plural would be रमासु.

7. (A) In the आकारान्त feminine dual the nominative, accusative and vocative all collapse to रमे. रमयोः is the genitive/locative dual, not the nom/acc/voc, and the singular/plural claims confuse those numbers.

8. (A) A neuter अकारान्त stem takes -म् in the nominative singular, giving फलम्. फलः is the masculine ending, फले is the locative singular (or dual), and फलानि is the plural.

9. (B) In every neuter declension the nominative and accusative are identical across all three numbers (फलम्=फलम्, फले=फले, फलानि=फलानि). The other pairings describe syncretisms that exist in some numbers but are not the defining neuter rule.

10. (D) Neuter अकारान्त stems take -ानि in the nominative (and accusative) plural, giving फलानि. फलाः and फलान् are the masculine nominative/accusative plural endings, and फले is the dual or locative singular.

11. (B) देवः is already the nominative subject and पश्यति needs an object, so फलानि fills the accusative slot ('sees the fruits'). The neuter nom=acc syncretism is resolved by the sentence: here it is the object, hence accusative.

12. (A) A neuter अकारान्त stem shares the masculine instrumental ending -एन, giving फलेन. फलया borrows the आकारान्त feminine ending, फलाय is the dative, and फलानि is the nom/acc plural.

13. (B) The neuter nominative singular फलम्, dual फले, and plural फलानि are correct. The dual is फले (not the masculine -औ), and the plural is फलानि (not the masculine -आः), so the other rows mix in masculine endings.

14. (C) The masculine nominative singular of तत् is the suppletive form सः. तत् is the neuter nominative/accusative singular, ते is the masculine nominative plural, and तम् is the accusative singular.

15. (A) The pronoun takes the special dative ending -स्मै, giving तस्मै. तस्य is the genitive, तेन the instrumental, and तस्मात् the ablative — each a different case of the same pronoun.

16. (D) Pronominal declension adds the -स्म- infix in the masculine/neuter ablative singular (तस्मात्) and locative singular (तस्मिन्), where the noun देव simply takes देवात् and देवे. That -स्म- is the diagnostic pronoun feature.

17. (A) किम् behaves like तत्: its masculine nominative singular is the suppletive कः. किम् is the neuter, के is the masculine plural, and कम् is the accusative singular.

18. (D) Pronouns take -एषाम् in the masculine genitive plural, giving तेषाम्. तेषु is the locative plural, तैः the instrumental plural, and तेभ्यः the dative/ablative plural.

19. (D) The feminine pronoun takes -स्यै in the dative singular: तस्यै. तस्याः is the ablative/genitive, तस्याम् the locative, and तया the instrumental of the same feminine pronoun.

20. (B) गुरु takes गुरुणा with a retroflex ण, while कवि takes कविना with a dental न — the two इ/उ stems differ in this consonant, and both are the correct instrumental singular of their own stem.

21. (C) Each is the instrumental singular of its stem: देव -एन, रमा -या, कवि -ना, गुरु -णा, फल -एन. The endings differ by stem-class but the case and number are uniform: instrumental singular.

22. (D) The dative=ablative plural takes -भ्यः (अ/neuter -एभ्यः, इ/उ -भ्यः): देवेभ्यः, फलेभ्यः, कविभ्यः, गुरुभ्यः. The other rows are the instrumental plural (-ऐः/-भिः), genitive plural (-नाम्), and locative plural (-सु).

23. (A) गुरुणाम् is the उकारान्त genitive plural (-ऊणाम्). The dative plural is गुरुभ्यः, the genitive dual गुरोः, and the locative plural गुरुषु — so only 'genitive plural' fits.

24. (A) The ending -ओः marks the genitive=locative dual across these stems (देवयोः, कव्योः, गुरोः). The instrumental/dative/ablative dual share -भ्याम्, and the nom/acc dual are the -औ/-ई/-ऊ forms.

25. (B) In the dual the instrumental, dative and ablative collapse into one form ending -भ्याम् (देवाभ्याम्). The genitive/locative dual is the -ओः form, and the nom/acc dual is the -औ/-ई/-ऊ form.

26. (A) गुरवे (दात. sg. of गुरु) and कवये (dat. sg. of कवि) are genuinely the same case and number — dative singular — each in its own stem. The nominative plural of गुरु is गुरवः, which is the look-alike that often misleads.

27. (C) गुरवः (-अवः) is the उकारान्त nominative plural, while गुरवे (-अवे) is the dative singular. They differ by one vowel and sit in completely different case-number slots.

28. (A) कवेः and गुरोः are each the ablative-and-genitive singular of their stems (इ→एः, उ→ओः). कवये/गुरवे are datives, कविना/गुरुणा instrumentals, and कवौ/गुरौ locatives.

29. (A) 'From' requires the ablative, which in the आकारान्त feminine is रमायाः (shared with the genitive). रमायै is dative 'to', रमया is instrumental 'by', and रमायाम् is locative 'in'.

30. (A) 'On the tree' needs the locative singular, which for an उकारान्त stem like तरु is तरौ. तरुणा is instrumental, तरौ: ablative/genitive, and तस्वे dative — none expresses 'on'.

31. (D) 'Bows TO' takes the dative, the आकारान्त feminine रमायै. रमायाः is genitive/ablative, रमाम् the accusative object, and रमायाम् the locative.

32. (D) The recipient of 'give' is the dative; the pronoun's masculine dative singular is तस्मै. तस्य is genitive, तेन instrumental, and तस्मिन् locative.

33. (D) 'Whose' is the genitive of the interrogative: कस्य. कः is nominative 'who', कस्मै dative 'to whom', and केन instrumental 'by whom'.

34. (C) 'See the fruits' (object, more than two) needs the accusative plural, which for neuter फल is फलानि (= nominative plural by the neuter syncretism). The others are instrumental, dative/ablative, or dual.

35. (B) Exactly two as the subject takes the आकारान्त feminine nominative dual रमे (which also serves accusative and vocative). रमाः is plural, रमा singular, and रमया instrumental.

36. (C) The neuter dual is फले (nom=acc), so 'two fruits' is फले; फलानि is the plural for three or more. Neuter does have a dual, and it is फले — not the masculine-looking फलौ, and not फलाः.

37. (C) The अ-masculine and अ-neuter instrumental plural is -ऐः (देवैः, फलैः), while the आकारान्त feminine takes -आभिः (रमाभिः). The -भ्यः ending is the dative/ablative plural, not the instrumental.

38. (B) तेषु is the pronoun's masculine locative plural (-एषु). The genitive plural is तेषाम्, the dative plural तेभ्यः, and the locative singular तस्मिन्.

39. (C) रमाणाम् is the आकारान्त feminine genitive plural (-आणाम्, with retroflex ण). The genitive singular is रमायाः, the dative plural रमाभ्यः, and the accusative plural रमाः.

40. (B) देवम्, रमाम् and कविम् take the accusative -म्; फलम् is the neuter form, which is identical to its nominative singular. The accusative is not -न् in the singular, रमा does have रमाम्, and फलः would be a masculine ending.

41. (C) देवस्य is the genitive ('of'), and तस्य is the parallel genitive singular of तत् ('of him'). The dative is तस्मै, instrumental तेन, ablative तस्मात् — so only the genitive completes the analogy.

42. (A) The neuter form फले is syncretic: it is both the locative singular AND the nominative/accusative dual. So restricting it to 'only locative singular' misses the dual reading.

- 43. (D) The genitive plural is the -नाम् family: देवानाम्, रमाणाम्, कवीनाम्, गुरुणाम् (ण after the long-vowel/र-environment stems). The other rows are dative/ablative (-भ्यः), instrumental (-ऐः/-भिः/-आभिः), and locative (-सु/-षु).
- 44. (D) The locative plural is the -सु/-षु ending: देवेषु, रमासु, कविषु, गुरुषु. The other rows are the genitive plural (-नाम्), dative/ablative plural (-भ्यः), and instrumental plural.
- 45. (C) सः is the nominative doer, रमायै the dative recipient of 'gives', and पुष्पम् the accusative thing given. The other labellings misassign the subject, recipient, or object cases.
- 46. (C) Although फल shares the अ-stem, it is neuter, so its nominative=accusative throughout (फलम्, फले, फलानि) — different from देव's distinct देवः/देवम्/देवाः. The gender, not the stem-vowel alone, changes these slots.
- 47. (D) The अ-stem masculine and neuter coincide in the instrumental, dative, ablative, genitive, locative; they part only in the nominative/accusative (and the related dual/plural). So देवाय=फलाय is expected, and फलाय is genuinely the dative.
- 48. (B) The feminine pronoun's ablative and genitive singular coincide as तस्याः. The dative is तस्यै, the locative तस्याम्, and the instrumental तया — each a different feminine slot.
- 49. (B) The agent of a passive ('composed BY') is the instrumental; the feminine pronoun's instrumental singular is तया. तस्याः is ablative/genitive, तस्यै dative, तस्याम् locative.
- 50. (D) The आकारान्त feminine vocative singular changes -आ to -ए: हे रमे!. It is not the same as the nominative, nor the dative रमायै, nor the plural रमाः.
- 51. (A) रमायाम् is the आकारान्त locative singular, फलानि the neuter nom/acc plural, तस्मै the pronoun's dative singular, and कवेः the इकारान्त ablative=genitive singular. The other sets misname at least one of these.
- 52. (B) 'In that village' uses the locative; the pronoun's masculine locative singular is तस्मिन्, agreeing with ग्रामे. The dative is तस्मै, ablative तस्मात्, genitive तस्य.
- 53. (B) The pronoun mirrors the noun in the dual: genitive=locative dual is तयोः (like देवयोः). ताभ्याम् is the inst/dat/abl dual, तौ the nom/acc dual, and तेभ्यः a plural form.
- 54. (D) The अ-stem accusative plural is -आन् (देवान्), while the इ-stem is -ईन् with a lengthened vowel (कवीन्). They are NOT the same ending, and neither equals its nominative plural (देवाः, कवयः).
- 55. (C) सह requires the instrumental, and 'teachers' (more than two) is the उकारान्त instrumental plural गुरुभिः. गुरुभ्यः is dat/abl, गुरुणाम् genitive, गुरुषु locative.

- 56. (A) देव is masculine, so a neuter-style देवानि does not exist for it — that option is a trap. रमे is the आकारान्त nom/acc/voc dual, फलेन the neuter instrumental singular, and तस्मात् the pronoun's ablative singular; those three are correctly labelled.
- 57. (B) रमाभ्याम् is the आकारान्त feminine dual covering instrumental, dative and ablative (the -भ्याम् syncretism). The dat/abl plural is रमाभ्यः, the genitive dual रमयोः, and the locative singular रमायाम्.
- 58. (C) Masculine and feminine अ/आ-stems take -आः in the nominative plural (देवाः, रमाः), but the neuter takes -आनि (फलानि). The -अयः ending belongs to the इकारान्त stem, not these.
- 59. (C) कः, का, किम् are the masculine, feminine and neuter nominative singular of the single interrogative stem किम्. They are not separate words, not different numbers, and not different cases.
- 60. (A) देवेभ्यः is the dative=ablative plural, रमायै the आकारान्त feminine dative singular, फलानि the neuter nom/acc plural, and गुर्वोः the genitive=locative dual of गुरु. The other sets misname at least one slot, often confusing plural with dual or dative with genitive.
